Learn smart, natural strategies that reduce costs, simplify maintenance, and create healthier gardens—all while making gardening more fun and rewarding. Perfect for anyone who wants better results without wasting time or money.

How to make Garrett Juice

Garrett Juice (ready to spray):

Mix the following in a gallon of water:

1 cup compost tea or liquid humate

1 ounce of liquid molasses

1 ounce apple cider vinegar

1 ounce liquid seaweed

For Garrett Juice Plus and more fertilizer value add:

1 - 2 ounces of liquid fish (fish hydrolysate) per gallon of spray

For disease and insect control add:

¼ cup garlic tea

¼ cup garlic/pepper tea

1 - 2 ounces of orange oil or 1 tablespoon of BioWash

For homemade fire ant killer called Mound Drench add:

2 ounces of orange oil per gallon of Garrett Juice

To avoid burning plant foliage, the ready-to-use insect control solution should not have more than 2 ounces of orange oil per gallon of spray.

Garrett Juice Concentrate:

Mix the following: 1 gallon of compost tea or liquid humate, 1 pint liquid seaweed, 1 pint apple cider vinegar, and 1 pint molasses. To make Garrett Juice Plus add 1 pint fish hydrolysate. Use 1½ cups of the above ingredients per gallon of water for the ready-to-use spray.
