Building Health Deliciously Nutritiously One Microgreen at A Time

PINKY GREENS KIDS WORKSHOP

Pinky Greens, LLC is a small urban farm that grows tiny plants called microgreens—super young vegetables that are packed with flavor and nutrition. Pinky Greens believes learning about food should be fun, colorful, and hands-on. During our workshops, kids get to explore how plants grow, learn where food comes from, and discover how small seeds can turn into powerful greens in just a few days. In this workshop, kids can learn how seeds sprout and grow, discover the science of plants and nutrition, taste different microgreens and plant their own seeds to grow at home!

Limited space available. Classes are designed for ages 5-12 years old. Online pre-registration required.*

Class times:

Saturday: 12:00pm & 2:00pm

Sunday: 1:00pm

PINKY GREENS POWER BOWL RECIPE

Rainbow Fruit, Microgreens & Chicken Salad

Pinky Greens, LLC – Healthy Food Education

At Pinky Greens we teach children and families how tiny plants called microgreens can make meals more colorful, nutritious, and fun. In this activity students become Junior Microgreen Chefs by creating a fruit salad topped with sunflower, broccoli, and cantaloupe microgreens.

Ingredients (Serves 4-6)

Fruit Base

- 1 cup strawberries, diced
- 1 cup pineapple, diced
- 1 cup grapes, halved
- 1 cup watermelon, diced
- 1 cup mandarin oranges (optional)

Microgreens

- ½ cup sunflower microgreens
- ½ cup broccoli microgreens
- ½ cup cantaloupe microgreens

Optional Additions

- 1 cup cooked chicken breast, diced
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1 tablespoon fresh lime juice

Directions

1. Wash and cut fruit into bite-size pieces.
2. Combine fruit in a bowl and mix gently.
3. Add diced chicken if desired.
4. Sprinkle sunflower, broccoli, and cantaloupe microgreens on top.
5. Mix honey and lime juice and drizzle lightly over the salad.
6. Toss gently and serve.
